

News Releases

April 22, 2003

Loss on Estimated Fair Value of Investment Securities

According to financial instruments accounting, the value of marketable securities is considered on prevailing market prices and 5.2 billion yen loss shall be marked.

As for business performance, there would be no major revision at this stage.